or, why it's ok for a truck to crush your laptop

Modern computing in the age of the Internet is quite a strange, remarkable thing. As you sit hunched over your laptop at home watching a YouTube video or using a search engine, you're actually plugging into the collective power of thousands of computers that serve all this information to you from far-away rooms distributed around the world. It's almost like having a massive supercomputer at your beck and call, thanks to the Internet.

The main content area displays a note titled 'Napkin sketch' with a 'Details' link. The note's content is a photograph of a napkin with a hand-drawn diagram. The diagram features a laptop, a cloud labeled 'Web', and a mobile phone, all connected by arrows in a circular flow. The central text reads 'remember EVERYTHING!'. A white marker is visible on the left side of the napkin. The bottom of the screen shows a dock with icons for 'New note', a refresh button, a trash can, an envelope, a pencil, and a magnifying glass.

The screenshot displays the 'File Sharing' section of an iPad's settings. At the top, there are tabs for 'Summary', 'Info', 'Apps', 'Music', 'Movies', 'TV Shows', 'Podcasts', 'iTunes U', 'Books', and 'Photos'. The 'Apps' tab is selected, and the 'Keynote Documents' section is visible. This section lists three documents: 'Made in Keynote for iPad.ppt' (48 KB), 'My Presentation.ppt' (1.3 MB), and 'Presentation from Keynote for iPad.key' (1.6 MB). The 'Presentation from Keynote for iPad.key' document is highlighted in blue. Two red arrows point to this document: one from the left and one from the right. Below the list are 'Add...' and 'Save to...' buttons. On the left side, under 'Apps', 'Keynote' and 'Pages' are listed. At the bottom of the screen, a 'Capacity' bar shows usage for Audio (605.6 MB), Video (4.71 GB), Photos (71.9 MB), Apps (115.3 MB), Books (27 MB), Other (320.1 MB), and Free space (8.20 GB). A 'Sync' button is located in the bottom right corner.
